When A Dancer Is Not In Uniform:

Life happens - for everyone. We completely understand! It is most important that a dancer arrives and is able to take class even in the event that he/she is not properly dressed. If this occurs, please come on to class and privately speak with the teacher about the missing or damaged part of your uniform for the day. We can try to find a replacement to borrow if something was forgotten or purchase a replacement if it is completely lost or damaged. Please do not take the pardon as your teacher passively not enforcing the uniform requirements. If a dancer is consistently not wearing the appropriate attire they will need to speak with the teacher and parents to try to form a better plan for preparing for dance classes each week. Any jewelry other than post-style studded earrings will be removed and placed in a Ziplock bag and stored in the dancer's dance bag.
